

Free Epidemiology Training: Yes it is Free

This free training on the essential steps to take during an outbreak investigation is being offered by the School of Public Health of the University of Albany and is specifically designed for nursing homes. The School of Public Health is looking for sites in the following regions: Rochester, Utica, and Syracuse/Binghamton including the counties of Steuben, Schuyler, Chemung, Tioga, Tompkins, Cayuga, and Cortland. The target audience is infection control nurses, directors and assistant directors of nursing, staff development coordinators and other staff that would have a significant role in a nursing homes infection control program. All that is needed is the space to hold the training (limited to 40 participants). The School of Public Health provides all training materials, set-up, registration and marketing. If interested please contact Dawn Bleyenburgh at 518-402-0339, or by email at dbleyenburgh@albany.edu.

Contact: Elliott Frost, efrost@leadingageny.org, 518-867-8832

(From 10/9/2012 LeadingAge NY Intelligence)