

Hurricane Sandy: Guidance on Disaster Funding for Non-profits

Last week, LeadingAge NY hosted a free audio conference for members impacted by Hurricane Sandy on the basics of navigating the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) funding process. Combined with Small Business Administration (SBA) loans, federal emergency funding is available to assist non-profit providers with repairs, re-construction and to cover the cost of extraordinary operational expenses resulting from the storm. FEMA experts from the Florida firm of Disaster Strategies and Ideas Group, LLC provided their expertise and FEMA reference materials. Resources and an encore presentation can be accessed by searching the LeadingAge NY website.
