Nurse Aide Testing Changes

ABSTRACT: CNA testing contractor to issue summary of changes.

At the request of NYAHSA, the Department of Health (DOH) has directed Prometric, the certified nurse aide testing contractor, to issue a summary of changes that have been made in the nurse aide testing program. Communication of the changes by the contractor—which include the elimination of the use of social security numbers for candidates, test scheduling, and issues with the Registry—has been problematic. The explanation of the changes and why they have taken place will go out to all training programs, including nursing homes, BOCES programs, community colleges and proprietary training schools and is expected to be issued shortly.
